Salesman Says Gravel Contract Bid Was Denied

Testifies In Trial Of Lawrence He Was Told Bidding "Was A Setup"

TRIAL ENTERS

Defense Seeks To Show

HARRISBURG, Nov. 16. A Pittsburgh salesman testified during the David L. Lawrence blackmail trial today that his firm was denied the opportunity to bid on a state gravel contract because former Chief Highways Engineer H. H. Temple explained it was a "setup."

Paul B. Reinhold, first witness called as the Lawrence trial entered its fourth day, declared he was turned down by Temple on Nov. 12, 1936, when he asked permission to bid on the contract to supply crushed stone for the Erie highway district.

"Temple said he was sorry but it was impossible to accept our bid," testified Reinhold.

"Was A Setup?"
"What was his reason?" asked Prosecutor Earl V. Compton.

"Because he said it was a setup," replied the witness.

This was the bid on which the Pioneer Materials company was low, and in performance of which later developed the Erie gravel scandal.

Pa New heard a fellow say today that the modern maiden should be called a "zipper" girl, since you can put your arm around her without being afraid of getting stuck with a pin. Which also reminds us of those big hats that required a sharp pointed spike to hold them on.

Three English pheasants, cocks, were seen Wednesday on the old Patterson homestead, North Jefferson street. The beautiful birds attracted a great deal of attention of people in the neighborhood. It is not known whether the birds came into New Castle on a tour of inspection of the city or to escape the hunters.

County Health Officer Thomas C. West, has made a complete round of all the school houses in Lawrence county, with the object in view of remedying any unsanitary conditions that might be found around the buildings or grounds. He reports that he found some cases that needed attention and informed school boards. The great majority of school properties were found in good shape. It is not so many years ago that some very unsanitary conditions were found around the little red school houses.

Who has the right of way at a street intersection, a pedestrian or an auto? The latest answer to this question is by the New York appellate court in a case which had been thrown out by the lower court. In the opinion rendered, the court says: "One who starts to cross a traffic light-controlled highway with the light in his favor, has the right of way over traffic proceeding on."

Kiwanis Club Celebrates Twentieth Anniversary In Field Club Program

New Castle Kiwanis, just 20 years old, celebrated the anniversary in notable fashion last night at a brilliant banquet affair in the New Castle Field club.

For former Kiwanians and their wives—invited as the evening's guests—the observance turned into a reunion. Reminiscing over 1919 days when the club was formed was the order of the night.

A chicken dinner, served in elegant style, was only a starter for the affair. Entertainment continued until after midnight.

Around long tables, attractively adorned with flowers and tall candles, almost 180 club members and former members and their wives, witnessed one of the finest programs any group would wish to see.

Judge Dickey Toastmaster

Judge Thomas W. Dickey, president of the club in 1927, was toastmaster for the night—and the judge, who's always good, was in tip-top "toastmastering" shape last night! He kept the merriment flowing. Not once did it stop.

Toastmaster Dickey, who was the toastmaster at the club's fifth anniversary, sat at the long speakers' table, where were seated all the living former past presidents and distinguished guests.

BRITISH LINER ESCAPES SUB

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—The British passenger liner Mataroa, a vessel of 12,390 tons, escaped from a submarine while en route to Panama from New Zealand, a Reuters dispatch from Panama City said today.

The report said the liner sighted the submarine on the surface at a distance of two and a half miles. The captain, W. H. P. Jackson, swung the ship around until the submarine was astern and ordered full steam ahead. The chase, said Reuters, lasted 50 minutes and the submarine gave up when it was left seven miles behind.

Reuters said the liner was armed but that the captain gave orders not to fire unless his ship was attacked. According to Reuters, officers, crew and passengers treated the incident as a "great joke."

Youth Killed By Hit-Run Driver

John Truby, Of Newport, Instantly Killed When Struck By Car On Wednesday Eve

DRIVER ON WRONG
SIDE OF HIGHWAY

Struck by a hit-run driver as he was walking along the highway between Newport and Wampum, about 7:40 o'clock Wednesday evening, John Truby, aged 18, son of Albert Truby of R. F. D. No. 2, Wampum, was instantly killed. Examination revealed a fractured skull, compound fracture of the right leg and probably internal injuries. Frank Diprill, aged 19, of the same address, who was with Truby, was knocked to the ground but escaped injury.

Diprill told Coroner Charles Piper Byers and State Motor Policeman Ritzler, who were summoned to the scene, that he and Truby were walking to Wampum from their home at Newport. They were on the east side of the highway, facing traffic, when the car which struck them approached from their rear, traveling on the wrong side of the road, and struck Truby, who was walking just on the edge of the concrete. Diprill was struck by Truby's body, and he was knocked to the ground, but was not injured, he stated. By the time he had gotten to his feet again, the car was too far away to get the license number or to determine exactly what make and type of a car it was, but he stated that it was either a coach or sedan of dark color. It disappeared in the direction of Wampum borough.

Hazen Ends Long Service As Member Of School Board

Completes Twelve Years On Board With Session On Wednesday Night

When the New Castle school board adjourned Wednesday evening it was more than just an adjournment for one director, Attorney Roy W. Hazen. It marked the close of 12 years of sincere service to the schools of his city and before adjourning the board passed a resolution of appreciation.

Mr. Hazen came to the board in 1927. His knowledge of finance made him a valuable member of the finance committee and later the budget committee. In all his service he was well rounded, favoring no one function of the educational system above another.

The board meeting itself was short, there being only about 40 minutes of business, but some time was taken up by the directors extolling Mr. Hazen's service as a director. He refused to run for a third term and his place is being taken by C. L. Shira.

SEN. DOWNEY

Opening a campaign in Pennsylvania which will carry them across the state in three weeks, U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey of California and Dr. Francis E. Townsend will address a mass meeting in the Cathedral at 2 o'clock in which the Townsend Plan will be explained.

Senator Downey will discuss the present social security act and to explain why the Townsend Plan is workable and should supersede the social security act.

It is explained by Senator Downey that Dr. Townsend's plan is not merely an old age pension proposal but is a national recovery program. Its primary purpose, he says, is to establish in the United States a sound and sensible economy that will assure jobs for youth and security for old folks.

The mass meeting opens at 2 o'clock in the Cathedral auditorium.

New High Voltage Power Line Being Built From New Castle To Sharon

Construction was recently begun on a new high voltage electric line to transmit power from the New Castle Power Plant to the Sharon and Greenville divisions of the Pennsylvania Power company. The new 66,000 volt line, twenty-two miles in length, will extend from the Cedar street substation in New Castle to a transmission substation near Sharon.

It is of wood pole construction, the finest red cedar being used, with pole heights varying from sixty to eighty feet. The latter are higher than any poles now in use on any of the local power company's lines. They are being set eight to ten feet in the ground and are cross-tied at a point above the ground line to prevent decay. At corners or other points of strain a double pole construction is used, known as H-frame construction. The line embodies the latest principles of transmission design, and an excellent record of operating efficiency is anticipated when it is completed and put in service.

Capone Released From Lewisburg

Former Chicago Gang Leader Completes His Sentence Of 11 Years

RELATIVES GREET
CAPONE AT GATE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Alphonse "Scarface" Capone, one-time overlord of Chicago's underworld, was discharged from federal custody at Lewisburg, Pa., today after serving 11 years for evasion of income taxes, the department of justice announced.

James V. Bennett, director of the Justice Department Bureau of prisons said decision to discharge Capone was based upon a petition filed by his attorneys, pointing out that he had served three days in federal custody between October 24 and October 27, 1931.

The attorneys reminded that the U. S. Circuit court of appeals had suspended execution of judgment on the charges for which Capone was imprisoned October 24, 1931.

Bennett said Capone's sentence thus expired today. He was released in custody of "relatives" at Lewisburg after being transferred from the federal correctional institution at Los Angeles.

Capone began serving a 10-year penitentiary sentence, May 4, 1932 for evasion of income taxes. He completed the sentence January 19, 1939, when he began serving one year for failure to file income tax returns.

Capone was given allowances for "good behavior" permitting his release earlier than had been expected.

Four Policemen Are Named Today

Shepp, Rigby, Boyles And Logan Are Elected By City Council

THREE WILL GO TO TRAINING SCHOOL

During council meeting held in the city building today four persons were elected to positions on the city police force upon the recommendation of Mayor Charles E. McGrath. The vote on all four was unanimous.

The men named are as follows: Charles A. Shepp, Milton street; George Rigby, Pearson street; Thomas J. Boyles, Neshannock avenue; Joseph A. Logan, Neshannock boulevard.

The order in which eligibles were certified by the civil service commission to council was as follows: Thomas J. Boyles, first; George S. Rigby, second, with John A. Winick and Charles A. Shepp tied for third place.

Shepp, Rigby and Boyles were elected in order named and then Mayor McGrath recommended Logan be placed fourth because of his having been in the military service during war period and an eligible officer.

Mayor Explains

He said he was deviating from his policy of taking eligibles in the order certified by the civil service commission.

The mayor said that Logan was in ninth place but his examination mark did not include what he would have received for having been in military service.

Mayor McGrath said courts some time ago ruled ex-service men were not entitled to extra percentage for military service in time of war. However, the mayor further explained the recent legislature had enacted a law, effective in January, which would make it mandatory that Logan, as an ex-service man be appointed.

Hopkins May Become Secretary Of Navy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—New Deal gossip today reported Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins is slated for early promotion to the long vacant cabinet post of secretary of navy, in event he recovers sufficiently from a recent illness to undertake the arduous duties of supervising expansion of the American navy.

President Roosevelt favors Hopkins for the navy post, New Dealers say, because he desires a trusted adviser and tested "trouble-shooter" to take active charge of the huge naval expansion program. They add Mr. Roosevelt has tested Hopkins, his close personal friend, on many "trouble-shooting" assignments and the one-time relief administrator has come through each time with flying colors.

Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones, meanwhile, is rumored as the likely successor to Hopkins as secretary of commerce, if the latter is promoted to the navy portfolio. In turn, New Dealers predict, Social Security Board Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer will become the new federal loan administrator.

The cabinet shakeup, say New Dealers, depends entirely on the state of Hopkins' health. He has been ill for months with a dietary (Continued On Page Two)

Russo-Finnish Parley Is "Failure"

Verbal Brickbats Are Being Hurlled

Soviet News Agency Blames "Finnish Ruling Classes" For Deadlock

FINLAND REMAINS CALM, SAYS REPORT

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Nov. 16.—Soviet Russia hurled verbal brickbats at little Finland today as the official Soviet (Tass) News Agency asserted that the Russo-Finnish negotiations had ended in "failure" and blamed the "Finnish ruling classes."

In a dispatch from Helsinki, Tass said the official Finnish attitude, to the effect that Finland wished to reach an agreement with the U. S. S. R. and that the negotiations had been halted only temporarily, was "entirely incorrect."

"It is obvious," said the agency, "that Finland did not wish an understanding with Soviet Russia and desires continuation of the anti-Soviet policy."

See Action Near
(Editor's Note: Well informed diplomatic circles in Rome yesterday said they believed Russian action with regard to Finland is imminent.)

The agency also accused the Finnish "ruling classes" of fostering an anti-Soviet policy with the support of the "English Bourgeoisie." It said Finland's leaders regard as criminal any attempts to advocate an understanding with the Soviet union or to "expose the same of the British imperialists." It also accused the Finnish rulers of spreading hatred against the Soviets.

(Reports from Helsinki reported that the Finnish government did not appear worried by the Soviet press blast and that the country remained calm, while all defense precautions were maintained.)

Reinhold was called to testify out of turn because he is under the doctor's care. Compton told Judge Howard W. Hughes.

The Pittsburgher recalled a conversation with Edward A. Griffith, state engineer for the Erie highway district, and Fred H. Mason, director of the highways bureau of purchases, during which Griffith described a plan to purchase a year's supply of gravel for the Erie district.

Reinhold said he warned officials that that method of bidding would "lend itself to possible manipulation."

He (Griffith) told me later he didn't have anything to do with it," said Reinhold. "He had to do it to satisfy other people."

Oliver K. Eaton, veteran Pittsburgh criminal attorney, who is defending the former secretary of the commonwealth, tried to show by cross-examination that Reinhold was an "interested individual and hence not entirely unprejudiced" in his testimony.

Basis Of Case

The commonwealth bases its case against Lawrence on the award of a highway contract to the Pioneer Materials company of Kittanning which, it was charged, resulted in the sale of inferior material to the state at an exorbitant price.

The prosecution contends the contract was a "deal" between the company and Earle administration officials, from which Lawrence blackmailed Spurgeon Bowser, president of the company, in the amount of $5,000. Lawrence is accused further of violating the election laws by not reporting the $5,000 as a political contribution.

E. A. Griffith was the second principal witness for the prosecution, following to the stand Arthur Colegrove, Cory newspaper publisher and former secretary of property and supplies in the Earle administration.

Sandwiched between the two was testimony by a stenographer for the property and supplies department, who identified records showing that although Colegrove had rejected "within 24 hours" a Pioneer company bid in 1935, the company's bid checks were not returned for six months.

It was during this period, Colegrove testified, that Lawrence and Charles J. Margiotti, former attorney general, tried to persuade him to approve the company's bid and award a contract, despite the fact Colegrove considered the bid "unbalanced and dangerous."

Griffith Recalled

Harrisburg, Nov. 16.—Recalled to the stand in the blackmail trial of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, Edward A. Griffith, ex-state engineer for the Erie district, denied in Dauphin county court house today that he had conferred in a Harrisburg hotel with Paul B. Reinhold, Pittsburgh gravel salesman, about highway bids.

Griffith testified he told Reinhold he was on "official business" when they met accidentally in a hotel tap-room, prior to the award of a gravel contract to the Pioneer Materials company, Kittanning.

Reinhold earlier testified his firm was denied the chance to bid for state business because of a "setup" he was told existed.

Thirty-five years ago the blacksmith laughed at the horse-carriage and scoffed the idea they would ever take the place of horses. The sign over his door today, if he is in business at all reads, "Garage," and in place of horses in his shop or yard, are a lot of cars needing repairs. He has quit the horse-shoeing business. It just goes to show how machinery is revolutionizing our lives. This is only one of many changes that have been wrought.

Hunters who are scouring our fields and woods may be tempted to gather a bouquet of Bitter Sweet, so it may be well to remind them that there is a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs for gathering the plant without first having secured permission from the owner. Bitter Sweet is a shrub with red berries, usually used to decorate homes in the fall. The berries are valuable as food for game birds and that is one reason why it is protected.

There is probably no common subject about which people are so ignorant as that of the effects of the food we eat. Pa New has read wagon loads of literature on vitamins and calories, and yet he can never be sure that he is eating what the dietitians would call a well rounded diet. If a fellow could only see those calories and vitamins, and count 'em out, it wouldn't be so hard, but it's the utter vagueness of the unseen that confuses. Sometimes we grow reckless and just eat the food set before us with no worry over calories and vitamins, and we notice that we keep our weight up just the same. Still, there must be something in this caloric and vitamin business or folks couldn't make a living telling about it.

It is surprising the amount of tourist travel that New Castle has enjoyed during the past summer and fall. Every day one sees cars from other states. During the past week Pa New has kept count and has seen cars from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Colorado, California, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, West Virginia, New Jersey, New York, Utah and Maryland. No doubt some of our citizens have seen cars from other states. Many of these visitors stay over night, and they nearly all stop to eat, or have their cars serviced. Our hotels have been well patronized. Those who keep tourists in the city and those who have cottages along our highways, report a good summer's business. New Castle is on the most direct route between the east and west, and with good roads, is bound to draw more and more of tourist traffic.

With the return of the winter season, when road building is impractical, the Pennsylvania State Highway Department, has started publishing the Detour Bulletin every two weeks instead of weekly as during the summer season, so as to keep motorists advised of road conditions. A copy of the current bulletin is to be found in the lobby of The News, which is for the period ending December.

One place where motorists show a great disregard for the traffic signal is at the corner of Grant and North Jefferson streets. The worst offenders seem to be out-of-town motorists, who continue to make left turns in the face of traffic coming down Jefferson street long after the signal changes.

On Croton avenue, near Vine street, there is a dead tree leaning over the curb, that is leaning some. It has evidently been struck by an automobile, but seems to be held in position by the wire cables running through the branches.

Out on the highway is not the only place one runs into skunks. One of Pa New's boys was exercising his dog the other evening along Leasure avenue, and ran smack into one crossing the street. Friend skunk was very kind, however, although he had ample provocation, because the dog would have liked to have torn him into pieces.

KIWANIS CLUB CELEBRATES 20th ANNIVERSARY

Charles Roll, to add their congratulations on the club's accomplishments.

The district governor at length told of Kiwanis' work while the secretary spoke briefly.

The club was not without its birthday cake last night, either, for, after one had been brought into the dining hall with its 20 candles burning, President Jesse N. Kerr cut it. Then it was passed around the tables.

Welcome By Kerr

To President Kerr fell the pleasant task of welcoming all to the party. In behalf of all the members, he extended the heartiest of greetings.

Secretary L. C. Mantz, who has served in that club office for many years, was introduced by Judge Dickey to handle "a presentation"—and the presentation happened to be an expose, an accounting or some such recollection of memorable club history.

Another who told of past Kiwanis days was James Mayberry, one of the anniversary committee leaders. Music, provided by talented singers—local and from out-of-town—interspersed the various speakers.

Scoring high during the evening was the ladies' trio composed of Mrs. Harry L. Gormley, Mrs. J. H. Buckner and Mrs. Chester P. Reynolds; a "Kiwanis quartet" including Leonard W. Kisthart, Samuel Lewis, William Wheldon and Billy Williams, and the Eureka Jubilee Singers, noted Chicago spiritual singers currently appearing in the 28th anniversary programs of the City Rescue Mission.

Thomas L. Paden, lieutenant governor of Division Four of the Pennsylvania district, and a member of the local club, was introduced to the dinner audience and handed a gift—altogether in fun—by Secretary Mantz.

Special Introductions

Given special introductions were George S. Long, the club's first secretary, and "Bud" Langdon, Mercer, the club's treasurer. They attended with their wives along with other early club members and their wives. When the time came for all charter members to be recognized, nearly 20 stood up at the signal from Toastmaster Dickey. Quincy A. McBride happened to be the first man to sign the organization petition for the club here in 1919, and he was introduced.

Most of the program, however, was a surprise—arranged entirely by the Kiwanis ladies under Mrs. H. L. Marvin's direction. The surprise—which was all of that to many of the men—brought forth a showing of baby pictures of Kiwanians.

Before dinner started, the crowd heard Mrs. Harry L. Gormley sing "America" while an American flag fluttered high. Then followed the invocation by the district governor, Rev. Poolson.

Tom Lewis, accordionist, strolled about the tables playing and singing through the dinner hour. Favors were distributed to all the ladies at that time.

H. Lee Marvin was general chairman of arrangements, aided by Thomas L. Paden, invitations; Fred C. Wolford, decorations; Harry L. Gormley, favors, and Frank Andrews, reception.

First Officers

Officers of Kiwanis in its first year—in 1919—were James K. Love, president; the late Robert K. Aiken, first vice president; Robert L. Wallace, second vice president; George S. Long, secretary, and W. L. "Bud" Langdon, now of Mercer, treasurer. First directors were C. Ed. Brown, Dr. C. J. Williamson, now of Pittsburgh; John W. Patton, and the late Dr. H. E. Zerner.

Presidents through the years were: In 1921, Clyde Gibson; 1922, R. L. Wallace; 1923, James Mayberry; 1924, Fred C. Wolford; 1925, Mayor Charles E. McGrath; 1926, H. Lee Marvin; 1927, Judge Thomas W. Saturday morning the body will be brought to New Castle and further services will take place at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the R. L. Boyd funeral home North Jefferson street, with the Croton Avenue Methodist minister, Dr. J. A. Cousins, in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Kaufman Funeral

Services in memory of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Shanor Kaufman of Prospect, were conducted at noon Wednesday in New Wilmington and at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Portersville.

The earlier services were at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. P. Prew, 310 North Market street, New Wilmington, where Mrs. Kaufman had died. The services were in charge of Rev. J. Ralph Neale, D.D., New Wilmington U. P. church pastor. Mrs. Edward Freeman and daughter Kathryn sang a hymn appropriate to the occasion. At 2 p. m. further services were conducted in the Portersville Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. George Cheeseman, officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Palbearers were Roy and Carl Schnauffer, Howard and Ernest Frew, grandsons of the deceased, and John and Isaac Kaufman.

Funeral Of Mr. Reno

Impressive funeral services were conducted at the home of Mrs. Imogene Houk, Ellwood City, R. D. 1, in memory of her late brother, Lionel C. Reno, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Charles H. Heaton, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of New Castle, was in charge.

During the services two hymns were sung by Mrs. C. E. Wilson and Mrs. W. W. Wilson, accompanied by the Frank M. Blaine.

The pallbearers were Frank Houk, William J. VanGorder, S. M. Reno, Fred Reno, Norman Houk and Ernest VanGorder.

Interment was in Harmony Baptist cemetery, New Castle-Ellwood road.

Dec. Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for the late Stanley Dec will be conducted Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the residence, 132 Oakland avenue, and interment will be in Madonna cemetery.

FLOWER SHOW IS FORMALLY OPENED

New Castle at having the show here for the second time in four years. "We were delighted with the 1936 show," said Mr. Rentz. "We hoped then that you florists would return again and again, promising you that New Castle will always show you the same warm welcome if it is we are honored at your coming, we hope you leave us with the same warm feeling we entertain for you."

Arthur H. Andrews, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association, spoke for the organized activities of the city. "Here in New Castle we have the facilities to handle your shows or any conventions," said Mr. Andrews. "The initiative and ability of the FTD florists of New Castle which you have seen demonstrated twice are but indicative of the citizenry of New Castle. Our florists, like all our citizens, are proud of New Castle and in behalf of the Greater New Castle Association I bid you all welcome."

Dean Wilde Responds

For the florists' association Dr. J. N. Wilde, dean of the department of floriculture of Penn State college, responded. He thanked the two welcoming speakers and lauded the local FTD florists who have sponsored the show. He congratulated Charles B. Hennon, the general chairman of the show, and prophesied that this show would be a mark for the entire association to shoot at in future years.

The speaking was brief but to the point. Following it the visitors roamed over the spacious show rooms and found delight in every exhibit. The exhibits of the New Castle florists are unusually fine this year and many of the visitors insisted they should be given prizes. The reason they were not is that the local men would not permit their entries to be considered, deferring to the visiting florists.

In the awarding of prizes, the Pittsburgh Cut Flower company took 34 of 39 prizes in their class and also a grand prize of $50. The Thomas company of Greensburg also won a grand prize of $50. Several Youngstown retailers were awarded prizes for their displays.

The show continues today, Friday and Saturday, both afternoon and evening. It is a show that feeds the appetite of human beings for the expression of beauty. It is a show that is a credit to the business it represents and to the city where it is staged.

Tonight at 6:30 the association holds its annual banquet in The Castleton hotel followed by a ball. About 200 reservations are in and the indications are for a capacity crowd.

British Capture German Freighter

Believe Freighter Is Being Taken To Port On West Coast Of England

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Captured by a British cruiser, the 989-ton German freighter Leander has been escorted to a port on the west coast of England it was announced today. It was believed the Leander was intercepted while attempting a dash to Germany from Vigo, Spain, where it had taken refuge since outbreak of the war.

Officials said the Leander flew the Soviet flag and also had the Russian flag painted on its sides. The commander, said the British, tried to scuttle the vessel, but the crew, "beat him up" and prevented him from carrying out this plan. Members of the Leander's crew said between 50 and 60 German merchant ships were interned at Vigo.

JUSTICE BUTLER DIES SUDDENLY AT WASHINGTON

ation of the NRA and other New Deal laws, the president sought the right to name additional justices if those over 70 years of age failed to retire.

The president has appointed successors to three justices who retired and to one who died. He has appointed Justices Black, Reed, Frankfurter and Douglas, an appointment record seldom equaled in presidential history.

With Justice James Clark McReynolds, he wrote many opinions opposing the legality of New Deal legislation.

Named By President Harding

Justice Butler, appointed by President Harding, had been a member of the nation's highest court for 16 years. He was appointed in November, 1922, confirmed in December and took his seat in January, 1923.

Justice Butler suffered an attack of bladder trouble during the last session of the supreme court, and was incapacitated for several weeks.

After the supreme court adjourned for the summer last June, Justice Butler went to his farm in Howard county, Maryland, near Baltimore, where he was a neighbor of the retired Justice Willis Van Devanter. He was stricken there in September, and brought to the Washington hospital. After apparently being on the road to recovery, he was taken to his Washington home, but a relapse followed, necessitating his return to the hospital September 20.

Besides his wife, he is survived by four sons, Pierce B., Jr., Francis of St. Paul, Minn.; Leo, and William, of Washington, and two daughters.

over a private right-of-way. It leaves the Cedar street substation on the present 66,000 volt tower line, branching off this line at a point several miles west of the city, where it turns north and roughly parallels the Shenango river to a point near West Middlesex, thence turning west to the substation near Sharon. The new line will provide a direct path for the transmission of bulk power to the Sharon division, from whence it will be transmitted to Greenville. Thus, it will not only provide an efficient means of transmission but will also increase still further the stability of the power supply to the highly industrialized Shenango Valley. Its construction is concrete evidence of the confidence which the power company has in the future of the large western Pennsylvania area which it serves.

Gazeta Del Popolo, and authoritative member of the Royal Academy of Italy.

Italy, he wrote in his paper, "will never permit any further advance of bolshevik Russia beyond the Carpathians, into the Danubian valley, through the Balkans, or towards the Mediterranean."

This declaration ruled out at the outset, so far as Italy is concerned, any Russian ambitions for recovery of Rumania's eastern province of Bessarabia. In recent weeks Italy, with the collaboration of Great Britain, has been fostering a Balkan "peace bloc" aimed to prevent any German or Russian expansion on the Balkan peninsula.

Coppola's statement gave support to an important declaration by Virginio Gayda, editor of the Giornale D'Italia and press spokesman for Premier Mussolini.

Control of the Mediterranean, said Gayda, belongs to Italy, which desires a "more lasting and better peace based on justice."

MISS JANE BRYAN IS "LAST AND FIRST"

A New Castle girl, Miss Jane Bryan, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. J. Elder Bryan of Morton street, will on Saturday be the last president of Bethany College Alpha Beta Theta Sorority and the first president of Phi-Mu, a national sorority with which the Alpha Beta Theta will merge at a colorful affair in the West Virginia college Saturday evening.

Miss Bryan has been president of Alpha Beta Theta for two consecutive years, and will continue in the office when the merger with the second oldest national sorority in the state takes place. Members will be initiated Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m., with a formal banquet following at 8:30. Bethany President Cramblet will bring congratulations. Miss Bryan will be toastmistress at the banquet. District and national officers will be present. Dinner will be followed by a fashion show. On Sunday the sorority will attend church in a body.

Miss Bryan, who is studying music at Bethany, played the piano accompaniment for soloists last Sunday at two Clayville, W. Va., churches—in the morning at the Christian church and in the evening at the U. P.

MARSING MEMBERS AT H. MILES HOME

Mrs. Homer V Miles was a pleasing hostess Wednesday evening when members of the Marsing club gathered at her home on Cunningham avenue.

Five hundred was in vogue, high scores falling to Mrs. Theodore Gunnert and Mrs. Ernest Anderson. Mrs. Howard Moncrief, Jr., won the gallop. Miss Hazel Steinbrink, a special guest, received a lovely gift from the hostess.

On November 29 the club will have their anniversary dinner at a local tea room with a theatre party following. On Wednesday, December 13, the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Thomas Thomas, of Richelleu avenue, for a Christmas party.

1934 CLUB MAKES PLANS FOR PARTY

Plans were made to have a dinner party on Wednesday, November 29, when 1934 club members gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pritchard, Garfield avenue, Wednesday evening.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Willard Belknap as hosts. Five hundred was in play at five tables during the evening, prizes being won by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kiefer, Mrs. Willard Belknap and Harry Stenger. Lunch was served by the women at the close.

Upward Class Meets

November meeting of the Upward class of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian church was held at the home of Philip Carson, Arlington avenue, Wednesday evening.

P. M. McGaffie, teacher of the class, was in charge of a short business meeting. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. J. C. Carson at the close of a program of games, and she was aided by Mrs. Wilfred Paul and Mrs. W. C. Druschel.

The couple's attendants were Ella Mae Stewart and Joseph L. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. McCollums will take up residence at 732 East Main St., New Castle.

FIRST METHODIST GROUP PLANS TEA

Queen Esther Auxiliary ladies of the First Methodist church, have completed plans for their annual tea and entertainment, to be given Tuesday evening, November 28, in the church parlors. This event is always eagerly anticipated by many, and this year, Miss Alma Locke is president of the group.

The entertainment will be a new feature for the society, as it will be in the form of a "Book Review" Mrs. Ralph Reed, a member of the organization, who has reviewed a number of books recently, will choose for this occasion, "Country Lawyer." In addition, a musical program will also feature.

Miss Neva Moore is general chairman, and other committees assisting follows: Program, Miss Mildred Sargeant, Miss Nettie Clark and Mrs. George Knox; Advertising, Mrs. Russell Shields, Mrs. M. R. Hornung, Mrs. Vennor Bright and Mrs. E. C. Hove; refreshments, Mrs. J. L. Fink and aides.

W. B. A. REVIEW HAS ROLL CALL DINNER

Colors of the order were used in decorating for the roll call dinner meeting of W. B. A. Review No. 98, held in the Malta hall Wednesday evening. The banquet was served in the dining room by members of the Young Married People's class of the East Brook Methodist church. Novel favors marked each place.

A welcome was extended by the president, Mrs. Pearl Cook, and co-sponsors were presented to Mrs. Deborah Russell, the oldest member present, and to Mrs. Alene Byers, the youngest member present. Mrs. Russell gave the invocation. At intervals during the dinner songs were sung under the leadership of Miss Jessie Harper.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. Martha Vogan, program chairman, and members who had not attended the meetings for some time, spoke briefly.

Afterwards the group went upstairs where the officers' march took place with the captain, Jessie Harper, in charge. Mrs. Carrie M. Brandt, of Freedom, Pa., managing deputy was guest of honor and Mrs. Emma Clappie, past president who has been out of town for several years, and Mrs. Ethel Thomas, managing deputy, were also received with honors.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party on Wednesday, December 6, when election of officers will take place. The Juniors will have their Christmas party on December 20 in the Malta hall under the direction of Miss Anna Patterson, Junior supervisor.

N. K. Club Meeting

Mrs. Welbourne Turner, Pulkers-street, was a pleasing hostess to members of the N. K. club when they gathered in her home Wednesday night for a regular meeting.

Games were provided for entertainment during the hours and prizes went to Mrs. Betty Bowden. Blue and white colors added a great deal to the table where a tasty luncheon was served by Mrs. Turner. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bowden, Harbor street, on Wednesday evening, November 29.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PERSONALITY HANDICAPS

Some years ago we had the honor of entertaining in our home a gentleman we had never met before, but of whom different members of the family still are saying, "Wasn't he a most attractive person?" One of his arms and one hand were paralyzed, but none of us observed this affliction until several hours after his arrival, and then everybody seemed entirely to forget about it. His cultivated manner, speech and smiles, and his sense of humor, captivated all of us.

"How wonderful that he could make us forget about his hand completely, even while he used it with great difficulty in eating his grapefruit," observed Mrs. Myers. He was, indeed, a great inspiration to all of us.

I remember that I once dropped into the men's section of a department store. When a clerk approached me, I was for the moment repelled by his unprepossessing face, but as soon as he smiled and spoke he appealed to me. I made my purchase with great pleasure, lingered to enjoy his presence, and finally left the store marveling at that man's self-control.

Personality Won
I recall a certain elderly lady in a rather important business position. In a conference with her my eyes fell upon certain marks upon her face which ordinarily would have repelled me. But her grace, her voice, her speech and movements made me say to myself, "How remarkable her personality!"

There are many children who have certain physical handicaps which will go with them throughout life. We can help the older children of this sort by calling to their attention such characters as I have just described. We can do more; we can help them forget their handicap.

By nature, however, we are inclined to make these children more self-conscious. Many adults, even parents, tend to remind the child constantly of the very thing he desires to have entirely forgotten. They talk of such traits directly to the child, or of them in his presence. We all should be more cultivated than to offend by such boorishness.

You and I know that we unconsciously hide any physical defect we know we have or think we have. I discovered, for example, that for years I had never pointed in my teaching with the crooked index finger of my right hand, although I am decidedly right-handed. School children dimly of sight or dull of hearing nearly always choose a seat in the rear of the classroom.

Remind Him Of It
Even when we learn not to make verbal references to the physical irregularity of a child, we may still remind him constantly of it by the way our eyes fall upon it, or by our gestures, even by the way we breathe.

Here is an opportunity for us to develop stronger character in ourselves and to build up personality in the child. Think of the good we may do, the headaches we may ease, the happiness we are able to afford the growing child, by taking thought and by proper management of ourselves.

TYRANT'S "YES" MEN
He looks for docile "yes men." Fat men who will agree. The tyrant wants no comrade a wiser man than he. The tyrant wants no counsel that bids him move with care. For them who will not flatter he has no time to spare.

When might is in the saddle and all is running well. The tyrant scorns the comrade who dares the truth to tell. The friend whose sense of duty bids him to speak his mind. When next the tyrant travels is told to stay behind.

So one by one they leave him! The wise, the brave, the true. Are broken, slain or exiled for what they've dared to do. And at that final battle where might is overthrown. Down to the doom of tyrants the madman goes alone.

Salt, however, is something the human system needs. It is most appetizing, we think, when properly seasoned with steak and onions.

Hughes Righteous Act Looks Wrong
Brazil Wanted To Strengthen Navy
Could Help Patrol Neutrality Zone

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—To read the state department's current account of it, Charles Evans Hughes, now chief justice of the federal supreme court, but state secretary in 1924, appears to have made a great mistake then, in discouraging Brazil from strengthening its navy, as it wanted to do. If the Brazilians had gone ahead with their program, the conclusion is that today they'd have been in much better shape than they actually are, to help the United States in the latter's patrol of Pan-America's Atlantic neutrality zone.

It's a sound conclusion all right, but it does Justice (and ex-Secretary) Hughes considerably less than justice. Times aren't now what they were in 1924. Charles Evans would have needed to be a good bit of a prophet to see ahead 15 years in this rapidly changing era. In 1924 I was just back from a prolonged residence in Brazil and Argentina and know, therefore, something of what I'm talking about.

How It Happened
It happened like this: Brazil and Argentina are Latin America's two major republics. They never have been very friendly. They adjoin and there long had existed more or less of a war threat between them.

The world conflict of 1914-18 and recently ended "Never again," was the watchword in this country. The air here was saturated with disarmament sentiment.

At this juncture Brazil took a notion to reconstruct its navy. It appealed to Uncle Sam to provide them. The prospect looked like a favorable one for us to make a barrel of money by taking on the contract. According to what was a naval mission to Rio de Janeiro to supervise the undertaking.

However, at that precise moment we were exerting ourselves to the utmost to persuade ourselves and other nations to cut down on war preparations. It certainly seemed inconsistent in us just then, to have a naval mission in Rio helping Brazil to arm against Argentina. There was plenty of Yankee criticism of such a policy. It assuredly was justified in the light of 1924's calculations.

In 1924's Light
Secretary Hughes evidently thought so.

He told Brazil that we'd recall our naval mission if it proceeded with an obviously belligerent policy. This correspondence wasn't made public. It would have been undiplomatic.

Only in the last few days has the state department opened its files, and revealed it, presumably with a view of putting Charles Evans Hughes "in bad," considering 1939's conditions.

Brazil was squelched, anyway. It would have been better for Justice Hughes, in the long run, if he'd told his story earlier, but it wouldn't have been popular then. He'd have given the impression that he was checking off a big South American warship-building program—with the United States getting the profits.

He'd have been accused of being an anti-profiler. Now he's accused of having made a poor 1939 neutrality bet.

As of 1924, Hughes was a bad bet in 1939. As of 1939 he was a bad bet in 1924.

It isn't because his judgment was poor. Because history is so eccentric.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A GOOD "TRY"
A distinguished group of leaders of the nation's Bar believe "that the time is ripe for lawyers of the country to make a determined effort to make sure the increasing governmental powers shall be administered only by trained and qualified employees—not by appointees picked on a basis of public expediency or patronage." The increasing importance of such governmental agencies as the National Labor Relations Board, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Federal Reserve Board, as they are, with quasi-judicial powers, underscores this need.

The American Bar Association in 1938 adopted the following resolution on this subject:

"Resolved, it is the duty of the Bar to uphold the merit system in public employment; to seek its wider adoption and better enforcement in national, state and local governments; to demonstrate its applicability to legal positions in the public service; to attract young lawyers to a career of holding legal positions in such service; and to increase confidence in a administrative agencies being officered and staffed by persons appointed because of merit and divorced from suspicion of political influence."

To achieve these worthy ends, the National Civil Service Reform League, a long-established non-partisan organization, has formed a special committee of lawyers including such men as Charles C. Burlingame, Homer Cummings, John W. Davis, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., Arthur T. Vanderbilt and John Perry Woods.

Here is a worthwhile cause, worthy of Bar support and aimed to make opportunities for governmental service open to lawyers on the basis of merit and merit alone—a noble purpose, but, unfortunately, too many ignoble governmental agencies.

The Great Game Of Politics

A Nation Of Old People?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. NEITHER the decisive defeat of the silly subsidy proposals for the vote in both the States and appreciating the tremendous emotional appeal inherent in these schemes are quite convinced that instead of effectually checking the movement an impetus has been given it. It is their conviction that proof of this will be afforded in the next session of Congress in the two national conventions and in the campaign to follow.

ON the contrary, thoughtful men, observing the size of the favored vote in both the States and appreciating the tremendous emotional appeal inherent in these schemes are quite convinced that instead of effectually checking the movement an impetus has been given it. It is their conviction that proof of this will be afforded in the next session of Congress in the two national conventions and in the campaign to follow.

That there will be gestures made toward the old-age vote in Congress and in the convention can be set down as a certainty. The number and solidity of these voters are far too great not to be angied for by the politicians. They are so numerous a bloc that neither party nationally can afford to let the other make the only bid for it. Neither, of course, will endorse or even suggest such monstrous proposals as were put before the voters in the last election—but each will express extreme solicitude for the old-age voters and pledge itself to move toward some "adequate provision" for indigent men and women over 60.

THE promises in the next conventions may be vague that there will be promises nevertheless. In brief, an issue has arisen supported by so many voters that the politicians cannot—a or at least, will not ignore it. Certainly the Townsend Plan has been strengthened by the Ham and Eggs defeat, in which almost all the Townsend took precious good care not to become involved. Indeed, he pointed out the more glaring economic heresies of the proposed plan and lost no chance to emphasize the relative soundness of his own. The net result is that he is in better shape to get a vote next session. It will not pass, of course, but the showing is likely to be formidable.

THE fact is that since the election there is among those best qualified to judge more real apprehension about the ultimate triumph of either the Townsend Plan or some modified, but still unsound variation thereof than there was before. For one thing, it is pointed out no matter how emphatic the adverse majority, it has not the effect upon the convictions of the supporters of these pension schemes. Neither arguments nor votes diminish their ardor or weaken their faith and they are completely impervious to reason on this subject. For another thing every year the number of those above 60 increase. Every year the proportion of elderly persons in the population grows greater. Every year the field for the demagogues who specialize along these lines expands. Every year the soil becomes more fertile.

TWO things it is pointed out, contribute to this—one, the fact that because of the progress of birth conditions fewer babies are being born; the other, the increase in the span of human life due to the progress of science, sanitation and general medicine. The Census Bureau figures for example, show that twenty five years ago the percentage of babies born in each 1,000 of population was 25.1. Today the percentage is just about 17, in the same period the average length of life has increased nearly fifteen years. The net of this is that the proportion of young people in the whole population has steadily decreased, while the proportion of oldsters has increased. Rapidly it seems, says Mr. Mark Sullivan, that "we are becoming a nation of old people."

HIS estimate is that while today there are 8,000,000 men and women over 64, forty years from now there will be at least 25,000,000. At the same time on account of the decreasing birth rate the total population—young and old—will have increased only 25,000,000 over the present 130,000,000. The question which these figures raise is this—if with only 8,000,000 "Senior Citizens" the politicians are already "moving in their direction," how long will it be, with their number increasing yearly, before they give way entirely and pension them all? It seems only a question of time. In that case the one hope of the nation is that some genius will evolve a scheme that will avert national economic collapse. None such has yet been proposed.

MERCER COUNTY FARMER HURT

Cranks Tractor While It Is In Gear And Is Struck By Machine

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Nov. 16.—Billy Tinker, 73-year-old truck farmer of Liberty township, is in the City hospital here with a fractured leg and possible chest injuries, sustained when he was pinned against the garage at his home by a tractor that he cranked while it was in gear.
While Mr. Tinker's condition is not believed to be critical, he is under close observation, due to his advanced years, and the possibility of internal injuries.
Mr. Tinker, who lives alone on the Mercer Pike, had finished his tractor work in the field and was putting the machine away. He stopped it at the entrance to the garage to drain water from the radiator. Forgetting that the engine was in gear he cranked it, and the ponderous tractor knocked him down, pinning him against the garage. His cries attracted a neighbor, H. H. Buxton, who rushed him to the Grove City hospital.
For years Mr. Tinker has raised fruits and vegetables and sold his product in Grove City, where he is well known.

Garden Forum Hears Professor Wilde At Flower Show Here

County Garden Clubs Gather In Cathedral Rooms On Wednesday Night

In conjunction with the flower show being held in the Cathedral building, a special meeting of the Lawrence County Garden Forum was held, Wednesday evening.

A feature of the meeting was the address given by Professor R. I. Wilde, professor of horticulture at Pennsylvania State College. His address was directed to the "ordinary dirt gardener", and in this way touched a subject vital to every person in the audience.

Representatives of nearly every garden club in the county as well as many spectators to the flower show heard Professor Wilde speak. During a short business session, held for the Forum a vote was taken to have the group meet on the second Monday of each month, in the future, instead of just four times each year as in the past.

OFFICER FACES MURDER CHARGE

Long Island Patrolman Not Sorry He Killed Mayor In Fit Of Anger

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—First degree murder charges were being prepared today against Patrolman Alvin Dooley, who shot and killed Mayor Louis F. Edwards of Long Beach and seriously wounded the mayor's bodyguard, Patrolman James Walsh.

Authorities released a confession which they stated Dooley had signed and in which he was quoted as expressing anger at the mayor for supporting Walsh for the presidency of the Patrolmen's Benevolent association of Long Beach, a post Dooley sought.

"I am not sorry I killed the mayor but I am sorry I shot Walsh," the statement declared.

Dooley poured a stream of flat slugs resembling dum-dum bullets from a special 38 revolver into the mayor and Walsh as they emerged from the Edwards home yesterday morning. The mayor died on the sidewalk but Walsh was given a 50-50 chance for life.

Brief Session Of School Board Is Held Last Night

Minor Matters Of Routine Nature Come Before Session Of Board

Mrs. Frank Logue appeared before the New Castle school board Wednesday night with her son and requested the board to pay some doctor bills recently incurred. The boy had fallen upon the cafeteria floor of the George Washington Junior high school and had cut his hand. The board informed Mrs. Logue it had no responsibility in the matter.

Business Manager John B. Bechtol was authorized to purchase 250 gallons of floor wax for use in the various schools.

Two former high school football players, "Blackie" Adams and Louis Picutti, appeared before the school board Wednesday night and asked permission for a charity football game on the Taggart Stadium, November 25. They explained that half the proceeds would go to the Community Chest. An opponent will be selected by them. The board granted the request of the two young men and the game will be played.

The statistical report of the superintendent was presented which showed an enrollment of 10,231 pupils in the New Castle schools as of the month of October. The average attendance was 97.18, a percentage of 96.

Bills in the amount of $4776.06 were ordered paid. They represented materials needed during the month for the school system.

News Briefs
From City Hall

Policemen Plimmer and Nelson in West Washington street last night apprehended a young man suspected of having molested a girl in Moravia street. He was identified at police headquarters this morning. Police learned he recently was released from an institution for mentally afflicted. He will be returned, police stated.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell assigned officers to the Public Square late yesterday and last night and four men were in jail today charged with loitering. The chief warned yesterday that persons who become intoxicated then solicit money or annoy persons will be promptly arrested. Such persons must find someone other place to sober up than the "Diamond" he said.

Auto owned by Milo Forrest, Mt. Jackson hill, who assertedly was stolen after he was abducted and robbed early Sunday morning has been recovered by police in Cleveland, according to a message from city police to Chief Ralph A. Criswell.

James Applebee, 23, of 54 Burt street, Boston, who visited the Rescue Mission last night, was taken ill. Applebee was removed in a police ambulance to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

ISABELLE ADAMS WEDS. J. McNULTY

Miss Isabelle Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Adams, of Plaingrove, and John Gaylord McNulty, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McNulty, of Plaingrove, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 in the Adams street residence. Rev. J. C. Fulton, pastor of the Plaingrove United Presbyterian church, officiated. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and a matching finger tip veil with an arm bouquet of white roses. She was escorted by her father to the altar. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a sword. The ceremony was attended by a large number of guests. The reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, attired in a street length dress of white tulle and a matching finger tip veil with an arm bouquet of white roses, approached the altar on the arm of her father to the strains of the "Wedding March" from Lehengrin by R. Wagner, played by Mrs. Fulton.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding dinner was served to thirty guests.

Mrs. McNulty graduated from the Plaingrove High school and Slippery Rock State Teachers' college and for the past two years has been a teacher in the Wilmington Township schools. The groom is a graduate of Plaingrove high school and Grove City college, completing the course of science and chemistry. He is a member of the Keweenaw Society and the Science club. He is now employed as the Chemical and Metallurgical Inspector at the Jones-Laughlin Steel Corporation in Allegheny.

BOOK CLUB MEETING AT F. R. WOODS HOME

Mrs. Frank R. Woods received Circulating Book club members in her home at 423 Sheridan avenue Wednesday afternoon. A delicious dessert was served after which there was a social time with the regular exchange of books taking place. Fancy work provided the chief pastime.

At the next meeting on Wednesday, December 6, Miss Henrietta Woods, 423 Sheridan avenue, will be hostess to the group.

E. L. E. M. MEMBERS AFTERNOON PARTY

Wednesday afternoon the E. L. E. M. club membership gathered in the home of Mrs. Donald Copson, on Highland avenue, for a social time, and to honor the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Elizabeth Queer. She received a number of lovely gifts as remembrances of the day. After the usual bridge period was concluded the prize was awarded to Mrs. Queer. Lunch was also enjoyed during the afternoon.

November 29, the club will meet at the Queer residence on Garfield avenue.

Rychlicki-Fray

A quiet wedding was performed on Saturday, November 11, in St. Monica's church, at Wampum, uniting in marriage Mary Rychlicki, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Rychlicki of Chewton, and Carl J. Fray, son of Mrs. Mary Fray of Ellwood City. Rev. Frank Maloney officiated at the ceremony, using the single ring service. A wedding breakfast was served later at the bride's home.

The maid of honor was Helen Fray and Stanley Rychlicki served the groom at best man. Bridesmaids were Helen Vansovich, Julie Krystynski and Ann Krawczykiewicz. Ushering were Ed Kolcz, Matthew Kezwicki and Jack Fray.

Mr. and Mrs. Fray are residing in Ellwood City, where he is employed by the National Tube Co.

Step-Ahead Club

Mrs. Earl White, of North Ray street, was hostess Wednesday evening when members of the Step-Ahead club gathered at her home.

Cards were the chief diversion, prizes going to Mrs. Edith Shaffer, Mrs. Minnie White and Mrs. Carl Lockard. A delicious repast was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Viola. Each member received a lovely favor from the hostess.

On Wednesday, November 29, the club will be guests at the home of Mrs. Harold Boughter, Vine street.

M. S. S. Club Meets

Club members of the M. S. S. club resumed their meetings Wednesday evening when they assembled in the home of Mrs. Anthony Vincent, East Morton street.

Prizes for games were won by Dorothy Micco and Sylvia Zannoni. The door trophy was captured by Angelina Conglose.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Angelina Conglose. As a special guest they had Mary Bero, of Struthers, O.

December 6 is the date chosen for the next meeting at the home of Dorothy Micco, Garfield avenue.

Old-Time Rebekahs

Associates of the Old-Time Rebekahs met with Miss Minnie Howard, Huron avenue, for their regular meeting and food-day dinner on Wednesday afternoon.

Promptly at the appointed time, guests were seated around the dining room where they enjoyed a delicious dinner. Contests were enjoyed with prizes going to Mrs. Hattie Nowling and Mrs. Zella George.

The next meeting will be on December 20 at the home of Mrs. Sadie Smith, of Park avenue, in the form of a Christmas party.

W. K. S. T. Club

Mrs. Day Weirick opened her home on Falls street, Wednesday evening to members of the W. K. S. T. Club.

Bridge held sway, with high score prizes going to Mrs. Clinton Glenn, and Mrs. Joseph Todd.

At an appropriate hour the hostess served a tasty lunch, assisted by Mrs. Robert Howell. Special guests on this occasion were Mrs. Clinton Glenn, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Dolan and Mrs. Joseph Todd.

On November 29, Mrs. Neil Williams of the Frew Mill road, will be hostess.

R. G. L. Class

Members of the R. G. L. class met recently in the home of Mrs. James Gilmore, Cherry street, with Miss Laura Bacon, the president, in charge.

Following the regular routine, lunch was served at a prettily decorated table, holiday appointments being used.

Stylist For Men Is Great Need Of Hollywood

—ADOLPHE MENJOU

By BURDETTE JAY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—One of Hollywood's greatest needs is a stylist for men, according to Adolphe Menjou, who admits that being forced to see poorly dressed actors on the screen causes him acute pain.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars a year are spent by all the major studios for the greatest stylists they can find to make sure that women are dressed properly," he says, "but so far as I know, not a dime is spent on anyone to oversee the dressing of actors."

"Usually, it's left up to the taste of the director or the actor himself, and the results often are horrible."

Menjou has long been known as Hollywood's best dressed man and admits that he may be slightly biased on the subject. "But if it grates on my nerves to see actors wearing impossible combinations of clothes on the screen, it certainly must annoy other people, too," he says.

"There are dozens of incongruities in nearly every picture, things that could be avoided if a fraction of the attention paid to women's clothes was given to the proper costuming of actors in pictures.

Three pictures with George O'Brien and then stardom, seems to have been the formula for young players who got their first big chances as leading ladies for the popular outdoor star.

Beginning with Janet Gaynor, who as a little unknown appeared with O'Brien in "The Johnstown Flood," the list of newcomers who climbed to film fame after becoming O'Brien leading ladies includes such names as Anita Stewart, Billie Dove, Madge Bellamy, Lois Moran, Jacqueline Logan, Virginia Valli, Olive Borden, Estelle Taylor, Sally Eilers, Maureen O'Sullivan, Polly Ann Young, Claire Trevor, and Marguerite Churchill (now Mrs. O'Brien).

Virginia Vale, now playing the feminine lead opposite him in "The Lawless," is hoping that her association with him will prove to be the same open sesame to stardom that it has for so many of her predecessors.

Neighborhood House Daily Work Goes On

Many And Varied Are Activities Offered For Young And Old In South Side

Without fanfare good work is being carried on every day of every week at the Neighborhood House on the South Side, under the supervision of the Americanization board of New Castle.

Miss Christine Butler, the Neighborhood House worker, made the following report of October activities, at the November meeting of the board in the Y. M. C. A.:

Calls made, 66; classes in operation: girls' fellowship, meeting two evenings each month, leaders, Mrs. Zeigler and Mrs. Nesbit, girls had a hallowe'en party, enrollment is about 20; Loyal Temperance Legion, Jean Butler, leader, numbers about 30 boys and girls, captains of the two groups in the club are Rebecca Paboudjean and Roy McClendon, who help prepare the programs for the meetings; the leader of the Christian Endeavor and her helpers have been much cheered by the response from members of the society, eight boys have taken Christ as their Saviour and they have begun to bring other boys.

The women's English class now numbers 11 members, several members have applied for citizenship and are learning what they need to know for the exams but are also being taught by their teacher, Mrs. Cleo Tinsman, to be patriotic citizens.

Mrs. Russell Muder is having good success with the pupils of the music class, some of whom use the Neighborhood House for practice, violin practice is held each Friday from 6:30 to 7:45 p. m.; Bible study class is reading the life of Christ, six of the Sabbath school boys have joined this class; the Sabbath school, Mrs. Allsworth, superintendent, is having good attendance, Miss Dorothy Baldwin is leading the orchestra and is getting good results, there have been several visitors at Sabbath school during the month, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Wallace gave a helpful talk to the boys and girls.

Clothing gifts were received from Mrs. Helen John and Jay Allsworth, a number of books from the Crawford Oakridge Home (N. Y. A. resident girls center), books and magazines from Mrs. Thomas Preston and Mrs. Stilling, Sabbath school papers from a Lutheran S. S. The House has given out one Bible and 93 New Testaments. A gift of ten New Testaments was received from Mabel Lewis.

Huge Supply Of Reich Gasoline Taken By Allies

Twenty-Four Million Gallons Seized By British And French

(International News Service)

LONDON.—Representing a silent victory of the air, the British command control and the French navy have already seized more than 24,000,000 gallons of gasoline destined for the German air force.

The 24,000,000 gallons of gasoline involved in the seizure is a definite blow to German air power as will be seen in the following:

A twin-engined bomber in the 250-300 m.p.h. class has two engines each developing about 1,000 h.p.

An aero motor consumes at least half a pint of gasoline for every horse power during each hour of flight. With the engine throttled back to about two-thirds power, a twin engined bomber uses 80 gallons of gas an hour.

During an hour's flight a formation of fifty bombers would thus consume over 4,000 gallons of gasoline. It would take a bomber heavily loaded with gas and high explosives up to six hours to reach England.

Thus a raid in which 50 bombers took part would require not less than 100,000 gallons.

The 100,000 tons captured by the allies therefore would be sufficient for three aerial raids a day for a year.

With the allies preparing for a long war and with Germany's desperate dependence on imported fuel the seizure of the gasoline is considered to be a powerful blow to Germany.

JAILED FOR STARTING FIRES IN FOREST

BEAVER, Nov. 16.—John Yakim, 59, of near Baden, is in the county jail on charges of starting forest fires and destroying woodlands and game during the past eight years.

Fire Warden F. K. Kennedy testified before Justice Irwin Romijn that Yakim and others had "squatted" on the Hail estate eight years ago and that a week or two before the hunting season each year, a fire had started and burned over the woods.

The officers, working with Kennedy, pinned the last fire on Yakim.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

To String Lights
On Streets This Week In District

Expect To Turn Lights On For
First Day In December
Is Report

For the second year, the varicolored Christmas lights will be strung along Liberty street, in the Seventh Ward. Electricians will begin their work either today or Friday and have the lights strung by the end of the week.

Although the lights will be in place in a few days, the electricity will not be turned on until December 1, and the lights will then be burned every night until New Year's. Due to the fact that by changing the type of street lights along Liberty street, four additional poles were put in place, and it will be necessary to secure four additional light strings this year.

This street lighting project is under the sponsorship of the Seventh Ward Civic Club.

Weather Fails To Down Troop

Local Boys Encamped At Clearfield Find Weather
Cool, But Wholesome

STAGE PARADE ON WEDNESDAY

(Special To The News)
By Troop Clerk Grand

CLEARFIELD, Nov. 16.—Troop is standing the rigors of a winter camp in fine shape. And we mean winter camp. The only thing that is lacking is about ten feet of snow, anyway the weather continues cool. The training schedule is very interesting and active and the men are showing a fine spirit of co-operation, maybe it is easier to keep warm when one is busy. Wednesday afternoon was a big day. We had the muster roll call to check on the payroll and for that formation Troop K shows 100 per cent attendance, following the muster we had a formal guard mount and at 4:30 p. m. a retreat parade so the people of the vicinity could see what our Regiment looks like "on parade." Then after evening mess Corporal B. J. Jones, our Regimental Commander had a military ball for the officers and men of the regiment.

Our mess detail under the direction of Sgt. Jim Foster is deserving of the highest praise for the fine chow he is putting out considering the handicap of preparing mess under field condition, and wonder of wonders even the coffee is drinkable anyway it has always been hot. When Sgt. Foster unpacked his Barracks Bag the darn thing exploded and upon investigation proved to be literally loaded with corn starch. Sgt. Jim strongly suspects sabotage on the "home front." "Watch out, Billy, when daddy gets home."

The writer is sure that a certain blonde will be glad to know that Corp. H. Pollock is almost caught up on his sleep, about two more days of bunk fatigue should put him in fine shape. Corp. Black has not produced any results is getting a Clearfield County bear, but anyway he "saw" a rabbit as far as we know the rabbit is still running.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisons waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start aching backaches, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help you 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Devotion Opens In St. Vitus R. C. Church On Friday

Visiting Priests To Participate
In Forty Hours Devotion
At Local Church

With solemn high mass and a procession Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, forty hours devotion will be opened in St. Vitus Roman Catholic church, to continue until Sunday evening. It is probable that large throngs will gather in the church to pay homage and give adoration during the period.

The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed each day after 7 a. m., the pastor, Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, announces. There will be 20 guest priests participating in the forty hours devotion, and they will take confessions this afternoon and evening, and all day Friday.

Saturday morning there will be masses at 7:30 and 8 o'clock, and Sunday morning at the usual times, 7:30, 9:30 and 11.

There will be evening services at 7:30 Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano of Ellwood City will deliver the sermon Friday evening; Rev. Fr. Etore Mosconi of Hillsville, Saturday evening; and there will be two sermons on the closing evening, Sunday, a sermon in English by Rev. Fr. Dante DeLillo of Butler and one in Italian by Rev. Fr. S. Ippolito of Mahoningtown.

The last service Sunday evening will be an impressive event, with a spectacular procession in which 200 girls in white, members of the Sodality of the Children of Mary in uniform, and members of the Mother of Sorrow, will participate. The altar is being beautifully decorated, with a great quantity of beautiful chrysanthemums.

It looks like a cold winter for the Germans under the new Nazi rationing plan. Each item of clothing is valued in units, and ration cards containing 100 units must last a year. A man is permitted two pairs of socks, two handkerchiefs and a pair of gloves between December 1 and April 1. Between then and September 1 he can buy one suit, two collars and a suit of underwear. If he buys more than two pairs of socks, he must forego something else. A shirt counts 20 units, an overcoat 60 units.

Hear Rev. Thornton At Mission Tonight

Rev. William A. Thornton, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, will be the principal speaker tonight at special "Epworth Night" services in the City Rescue Mission.

The Eureka Jubilee Singers, Chicago group, again will sing. They are here for the duration of the mission's 28th anniversary program. Friday night in the First Presbyterian church, birthplace of the mission, the mission will honor the memory of the late Robert McKinney. The public is invited to participate.

Yesterday three large audiences heard the Eureka singers.

Nazi War Aim Is Full Destruction Of British Supremacy

So Declares A Nazi Spokesman — Talk Of Peace Being Shelved

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—Nazi Germany's real war aim is the destruction of British supremacy in Europe and throughout the world, authoritative Berlin quarters declared today as the last nail was hammered into the coffin of the Wilhelmian-Leopold peace offer.

"We take the attitude," a spokesman said, "that Germany will henceforth fight this war to its conclusion—until destruction of British supremacy is complete."

This clear-cut announcement of the Reich's determination to fight the war to a finish was made following delivery to Brussels and The Hague of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's polite but firm rejection of the mediation bid on the grounds that Britain and France had "sabotaged" it.

"We no longer talk about peace conditions," the Wilhelmstrasse spokesman declared.

"We intend to show that we are as ready for a victorious war as we formerly were ready for peace."

"From now on, peace conditions can be discussed only when the war is over and Germany is the victor."

Story Of Nazi Destruction Of Poland Is Bared

Grapevine Brings Tales Of Disease, Devastation, To Paris

STORIES DIFFER ON PERSECUTION

(International News Service)

PARIS—The area which a brief time ago was marked on the maps of Europe as the Polish Republic is now a region of tragedy and horror, according to unconfirmed reports which almost daily trickle through to diplomatic circles in Paris by way of Hungary, Rumania and the Baltic states.

Despite the screen of secrecy which the German and Russian masters of the land which was Poland have thrown over the areas under their control, these reports continue to arrive. Pieced together, they form a dreadful tale of devastation, desolation and disease.

Epidemic diseases are reported to be rampant in Warsaw and other areas, now under German control, which bore the brunt of military operations. Cholera and typhus are said to be so widespread among the civilian population that the sanitary services of the German military establishments admit their inability to cope with the situation.

Touring Diplomat Guarded Indirect confirmation of this report arrived in Paris recently through the legation of a nation which, early in the week, was permitted to send a diplomatic representative to Warsaw to carry out an urgent mission in connection with the fate of civilian nationals of his country.

The diplomat, according to the story which reached Paris, was taken under close personal supervision on a special train to the frontier of former Poland which is entirely closed to both incoming and outgoing ordinary passenger traffic. Permitted to remain in Poland only three days, including the time taken by the train journey, he was accompanied constantly by German officers and Gestapo agents. Except for several conducted tours through a restricted portion of the former capital, he was forced to remain on the special train, eating all his meals and sleeping in his compartment. The only water he was permitted to drink and the only food he was given were those brought into Poland on the special train. The diplomat was also pledged to refrain from making public what he saw in Warsaw.

Warsaw In Shambles

Eighty percent of the buildings in Warsaw have been damaged during the bombardments and siege, according to another report which also quoted German officers as saying that it would be quite impossible to rebuild the city. At some later date, according to these officers, an effort would be made to clear the principal thoroughfares.

The impression created by many of the reports is that the German authorities intend to postpone working out any reconstructive policy for Poland until events are clearer in the west. Meantime the policies, already applied in Bohemia and Moravia, will be used in Poland.

One neutral diplomat in Paris commented:

"The impression seems to be fairly widespread that the Allies have 'written off' Poland, and resigned themselves to the tragic fate of its population. That is a distortion of the truth. The fact is that efforts were made early this month to help the survivors, or at least to learn their fate. But it was rapidly clear that any inquiry about a man—or even a woman or child—called the attention of the Gestapo to that person, and put his life in jeopardy. So things are being done differently now."

Russian Reports Differ

Conflicting reports are in circulation about conditions in the area under Russian control. On the one hand, the Russians are accused of "carrying out in a fortnight the horrors" they took years to carry out in White Russia and the Russian Ukraine—wholesale massacres of officials, landowners, kulaks, priests, rabbis and "suspected" persons. On the other hand, the Russian invaders are declared to be making a point of moderation in their dealings with the population, particularly the landless poor.

One area under Russian control, Eastern Galicia, is said to have been the scene of violence and brutality, first by the Germans and then by the Russians. The German troops which invaded the area from the northern frontier of Slovakia, it is reported, set out to smash the Ukrainian nationalist movement which was based on possible union of the area with Russian Ukraine. Anyone suspected of being a member or even a sympathizer with this movement was executed.

Intellectuals Arrested Nevertheless, many Ukrainian nationalists escaped, particularly educated members of the upper middle-class who had hoped to form the basis of an Ukrainian "intelligentsia"—intellectual class—as soon as Russia took over. Doctors, lawyers, engineers worked as common laborers and petty shopkeepers, waiting for their "deliverance."

The great day came, and with it the deception. The Russians singled out these Ukrainian intellectuals and professionals—whose names were known through spies—and arrested nearly all of them. They were accused of being "intellectual kulaks,"—possible sources of anti-Soviet agitation.

Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society Getting Seals Ready To Be Mailed

VARIOUS GROUPS AIDING IN WORK

In order that there will be no conflict between the local Red Cross drive and the annual sale of Christmas seals by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society, the seals will not be placed in the mails, destined for each and every home in the county, until December 1.

These Christmas seals are the only support of the Tuberculosis society, and by their purchase the fight against the greatest killer of youth, tuberculosis, is advanced. The society is carrying on the drive this year with the theme, "There Can Be No Neutrality Toward Tuberculosis."

Church and civic organizations about the city are aiding this year, as in the past, in preparing the seals for the mail. They spend several hours at the offices of the society in the Lawrence Savings & Trust company building, folding the letters and seals and placing them in addressed envelopes.

A group of ladies from St. Mary's church were the first to work at this task, and this week representatives of the First U. P. church and the Council of Jewish Women have been on duty at the headquarters. Those from the church included Betty Shira, Marguerite J. Smith, Nancy McConaghy and Mrs. William M. Smith.

Representatives of the Council of Jewish Women were Mrs. William Blau, chairman; Mrs. Leonard Reinhardt, Mrs. E. Fisher, Mrs. Daniel Fisher, Mrs. Morris Davis, Mrs. James I. Meyers, Mrs. Melvin L. Stark, Mrs. Benjamin Finkel, Mrs. Irwin Robins, Mrs. H. Botwin and Mrs. J. Mirow.

Each letter sent out by the society will carry a worthwhile appeal to the people of Lawrence county, and if each person does his or her share, the aim of the county society in the prevention and early discovery of the dreaded disease will be aided and abetted.

Dr. Dafeo's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SOAP STICK EFFECTIVE IN RELIEVING BABY'S CONSTIPATION

About the simplest remedy for baby's constipation is a soap stick. Of course this should not be resorted to until changes have been made in the child's food to see if diet will correct the condition.

As the name implies, the soap stick is merely a piece of soap cut from a bar and shaped into a cylinder about an inch and a half long and the diameter of a lead pencil. Care should be taken to see that all the corners are rounded and that there are no sharp places to injure the child.

This soap stick is inserted in the baby's rectum and the diaper is bound firmly in place so that the stick cannot come out. Then put the child to bed. At the end of twenty minutes the desired result will be effected.

The great value of the soap stick lies in the fact that it usually gets results in a hurry; that it is cheap and that anyone can attend to it. For ease in inserting, the stick may be sharpened slightly at one end. However there must not be a point to it otherwise it might do injury to the delicate membranes inside the baby's rectum.

The operation is often made easier by the application of vaseline or some lubricating cream to the rectum before the soap stick is inserted. This isn't often necessary, however, for the soap stick itself supplies lubrication.

One mustn't get the idea, however, that because the soap stick is quick, effective and cheap that it can be used every day. It works on the principle that when the return is distended there is a great tendency on the part of the body to empty it. It also follows that any child who had a soap stick once or twice a day for a period of weeks would likely lose this tendency to evacuate his bowels. The body would just accustom itself to the soap stick, and it would make no great effort to expel it. If this happened, the efficacy of the remedy would be gone.

Enemas are given to a great many children who suffer from constipation. For the ordinary case they are more difficult to give than the soap stick, and as a rule they aren't a bit more successful. Sometimes, however, enemas are very necessary.

An enema, as I'm sure you all know, is an administration of fluid into the rectum which distends the bowel in the same manner as the soap stick, only to a greater degree. The enema is used frequently in the relief of colic and distension, usually with a good deal of success.

For the administration of an enema to a small baby under the age of six months, there are special types of rubber bulbs which can be obtained at any drug store. These are effective and safe. I always advise against the use of an enema bag for small children. They may be all right for older children and adults, but if the bag is held too high while the baby is getting an enema, there might be too much pressure, with the result that too much of the enema fluid would be introduced into the child. This over-extension of the bowel in babies is unwise as well as unnecessary, especially when the special rubber bulbs I spoke of before are inexpensive.

Even with an older child, when an enema bag is used it should not be raised more than two or three feet above the child.

The next session of court will be held on Saturday morning when motions and petitions will be heard.

Bids for shelving and fixtures for the law library were opened yesterday but owing to absence of two of the county commissioners, the contract was not let.

In the case of the City of New Castle against Giovanni DiGiacomo, growing out of a tax lien against property on Lyndal street, the Home Owners Loan Corporation presented a petition asking that the lien be stricken off as not collectible. A rule was issued returnable on the 4th of December. It seems that a former county treasurer had overlooked the lien when an attorney had asked for a statement, and a mortgage was subsequently placed by the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

In an opinion handed down today Judge Thomas W. Dickey refused a new trial in the case of the Atlantic Refining Company against the Mahoning Valley Sand Company in which a verdict had been returned in favor of the defendant.

In the case of the commonwealth against Orval Hutton, charged with desertion and non-support, the defendant presented a petition asking for a modification of an order under which Hutton was to pay his wife, Elsie Hutton, $80 per month for the support of herself and three minor children. At the time the order was made Hutton stated that he was working at Irvin. He afterwards rented a house in McKeesport and sent for his wife, but he claims that she refused to go to live with him at McKeesport, and for that reason he believes the order made should be reduced. Judge Dickey set November 25 as a time for hearing the case.

Two fine pedestals to be placed at the top of the steps leading to the main entrance to the court house have arrived and will be placed in position this week. A cement base for the pedestals was put in last spring. The pedestals will be surmounted with electric lights.

Pluribus subpoenas in divorce with order for publication have been granted by Judge Thomas W. Dickey in the cases of Anna Carino against Charles Carino and Belle Gilchrist against John Gilchrist. The respondents were reported "not found" by the sheriff on two former subpoenas.

Disbursements from the gasoline fund for the month of October, as shown by the records of County Controller Frank Hill, were as follows: Damage claims paid, $3,685.82; legal expenses and prothonotary, $15; viewings and testifying, $299.70; printing and advertising, $4.30; transportation of jurors, $35. Total, $4,037.82.

Bridge construction and reconstruction: Use of equipment, $38; drayage, $19; materials, $17.77; labor, $14; superintendent's salary, $125. Total, $212.77. Highway inspection, $27. Grand total, $4,275.59.

Form First Aid Class For Women

Class Being Formed For Instruction In First Aid At Chapter House

Harry Cullford, chairman of First Aid for the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced today that a class for women is being formed and that instruction will start shortly at the Chapter House.

This class will be for women 17 years of age or older, and will consist of 20 hours of instruction under competent instructors. A small fee which takes care of the bandages used in the course and the text book is all that is required of the entrants. Registration can be made now at the Chapter House, 29 North Beaver street.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Nightmares in little children are called night terrors. The child, while asleep, cries out as if frightened.

She may stand up in bed and even run around. She is confused and agitated. It may require some moments to arouse her to consciousness.

Next morning she will have no recollection of such action. Night terrors usually affect the nervous child.

Too much excitement before going to bed may cause it. Late food which does not digest easily is bad for the child. A restful routine in the house makes for peaceful sleep.

Thoughtless parents are often responsible for night terrors.

RHYTHM BAND ACCORDED HONOR

Eagle Scout Also Honored At
P. T. A. Meeting At Neshannock School

The Neshannock school building was filled with a record crowd on Tuesday evening when members of the Neshannock Parents and Teachers association gathered for a dual celebration giving recognition to the newly formed rhythm band of the school and Howard Brest, who recently received his Eagle Medal from the Scouts.

Mrs. Jack Murphy directed the newly organized "Girl and Boy Rhythm Band" in the following program: "School Days," dedicated to the parents; "An Apple for the Teacher," dedicated to the faculty.

JUST DIDN'T THINK

"I should have taken Father John's Medicine at the start of my cold instead of allowing it to hang on this way. I knew better; I've used it before."

For the past 84 years Father John's Medicine has been used successfully by millions for colds and body building. Now, when colds are prevalent, take Father John's Medicine—Rich in the essential vitamins A and D.

duet solo, "Jimmy Valentine" by Doris Murphy and Marguerite Kirk, accompanied at the piano by Billy Rae Earl; "Merry Oldsmobile" the band; recitation with music "If I Were a Millionaire" by Elaine Perry, Evelyn Murphy, Marshall Currin and Billy Withers, accompanied by the band; "Beer Barrel Polka" by Marguerite Kirk; "God Bless America" followed by "Taps" the band.

David McCombs carried the flag to the front of the platform with the entire assembly coming to a salute. At this time, Boy Scouts of the community, under the direction of Scoutmaster N. J. McCluskey and Howard Barge, held a special program honoring Howard Brest, who has just received his Eagle medal from the Scouts. He was presented with two handsome gifts, from the Scouts and the P. T. A.

In the recent parade held by the South Side, this band won an award and presented the award a money to the school with which a new stage and curtains were purchased. From the kind interest of the P. T. A. and the community at large, contributions were taken and auditorium chairs were purchased. Jack Gerson donated a large hall clock and each of these new additions to the school building were displayed.

A social hour ensued and tasty refreshments were served to guests numbering 175 by Mrs. N. J. McCluskey and a large group of aides. Plans were formed for the next session to take place in the school on December 12.

Stamps Mark 75th Red Cross Year

To commemorate the signing of the Treaty of Geneva, which founded the Red Cross 75 years ago, four European nations have issued postage stamps. Through the efforts of a Swiss, Henri Dunant, representatives of 16 countries signed the treaty on August 22, 1864, and established neutrality of the Red Cross emblem on the battlefield. Top-left, the Swiss adhesive, showing a view of Geneva. Right, the French commemorative. Bottom-left, the likeness of Dunant on a Belgian stamp. Right, the Finnish adhesive.

R. D. Rosenberger Named To Committee

Heads National Body To Establish Standards For Perpetual Cemetery Care

As the result of his address before the national convention of the American Cemetery Owners Association in Cleveland some weeks ago, R. D. Rosenberger of Castle View Burial Park has been appointed chairman of a national committee to establish minimum standards of maintenance funds for cemeteries advertising perpetual care. The appointment comes through the national president of the association J. F. Eubank of Houston, Texas.

In his Cleveland address Mr. Rosenberger made some startling statements and then proceeded to prove them. He charged that many cemeteries advertising perpetual care based their claims upon a maintenance fund set up on an arbitrary basis bearing no relation to the actual needs of the cemetery and frequently providing only a fraction of the monies necessary to discharge the obligation assumed by the cemetery.

It will be the duty of the committee headed by Rosenberger to set out standards that will be acceptable to the national organization and once accepted they will be the yard stick by which all cemeteries will be measured insofar as perpetual care is concerned.

Serving with Mr. Rosenberger is John A. Stolp of Chicago, nationally known cemetery statistician, E. Clovis Hinds of Memphis, director of the national association, J. D. Youmans of Atlanta, Georgia, and H. Raymond Ligon, landscape engineer and burial park designer.

MAN CATCHES FIRE ATTENDING CHURCH

SLIPPERY ROCK, Nov. 16.—A. L. Chambers, former burgess, put a card of book matches and some potassium chlorate lozenges in his pocket, and went to the Methodist church to hear Rev. C. W. Baldwin preach. When the congregation got up to sing the lozenges ignited the matches and set Chambers on fire. The pastor, smelling smoke, called the janitor, but Chambers managed to extinguish the fire himself. He wasn't burned, but hereafter will stick to peppermint lozenges.

New Castle Driver Injured In Crash; New Car Smashed

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 16.—Struck by a second car the automobile of J. E. White of 703 Highland avenue, New Castle, was badly damaged when it swerved over a sidewalk and ended up against a tree at the intersection of Penn and Chestnut streets.

The driver of the car, White, escaped with a bruised leg.

White was driving his car west on West Penn street and crossing the Chestnut street intersection when the right rear fender of his machine was struck by a car driven by Ben Dickey of 1045 New Castle street, who was driving south on Chestnut street, according to the city police.

The impact of the collision locked the rear wheel on White's automobile causing it to swerve sharply up onto the sidewalk, where it turned onto its side and came to rest after the hood was bent around a tree.

Damage to White's car, which was a 1940 model he had owned only three days, was estimated at $300.

Guilty Of Slaying

(International News Service)

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 16.—Dr. George W. Gore, 65, prominent southern Illinois surgeon, today was found guilty of murder in the fatal shooting of Carl Choiser, 47-year-old attorney-publisher of Benton and his punishment was fixed at death in the electric chair.

Dr. Gore's 32-year-old son, George, Jr., who was acquitted recently in the same courtroom of a murder charge in the fatal shooting of his stepmother, Mrs. Nancy Gore, 45, Dr. Gore's second wife, was present when the verdict was returned.

Before the jury filed into the courtroom to return the verdict, young Gore went up to his father and warmly shook hands with him.

VENDOL WAS JUST WHAT THIS WELL KNOWN LOCAL MAN NEEDED

Was nervous, sleep was poor, stomach weak and easily upset, dizzy and weary, all due to constipation. Vendol gave astonishing relief.

MR. CARL MOONEY

"I can truthfully say from my own experience that Vendol is a wonderful medicine for troubles like mine," says Mr. Carl Mooney, resident of 121 Bridge St., New Castle. "Before taking Vendol I suffered daily from constipation which made my head feel dizzy and my tongue kept a furry coating on it, leaving a bad taste in my mouth. It also kept my stomach so weak and upset I could hardly eat anything without being distressed afterwards with gas, bloating and heart fluttering, because my food turned sour and hot water came up in my throat."

"I would be awake for hours and in the morning felt as tired as when I went to bed."

"Vendol was spoken of so highly and was helping so many people all around here that I got some and needed because it soon relieved my constipation, and then that half-sick, no-good feeling left me and my food quit disagreeing with my stomach so I could eat things I could not eat before, yet they did not hurt me."

"This relief from constipation relieved the gas, bloating, that disagreeable water rising in my throat, and my sleep is restful. I feel so good now that I can hardly thank Vendol enough."

The medicine that did so much good for this well-known resident is sold by all leading druggists, and is highly recommended here by Eckerd's of New Castle, 118 E. Washington St.

Erie Tech Will Be Out To Trip Locals Saturday

Big Erie Eleven Will Come Here Determined To Upset New Castle If Possible

INITIAL MEETING OF TWO SCHOOLS

ERIE Technical high school's coaches all week have been telling the boys in New Castle plays having counted the "Red Hurricane" in several games. The Lake City team will come here Saturday afternoon loaded for "bear", literally speaking to get the scalp of the locals. The game at Target Stadium at 2:30 o'clock will no doubt find a big crowd in the stands.

It will be the second daylight game of the year for the New Castle team. Having whipped Grove City High, 14 to 2, last week, the local boys will try to make it two in a row. Coaches Thomas and Cuba have scouted the Erie team and reported that New Castle had better not take this Erie Tech team as any "breather".

Watch Kwiatkowski

Any team that defeats Erie East and Meadville High must have something on the ball. In Kwiatkowski, the Techers have a lad who is big and fast and can catch forward passes, he being the boy responsible for the defeat of Erie East. The passer is Richard Wisneski and he is a honey, the scouts report.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has been drilling the "Canes" unusually hard this week, with an eye on the Sharon game here on Thanksgiving which is just one week from today. There will not be much time left after Saturday to get the team ready for the annual clash with the big Sharon High team.

Lauro Injured

Lindy Lauro has a sore shoulder and may not start the game on Saturday. Bridenbaugh said today. If Lauro cannot start it will be either Joe or "Simber" Izzo of the Mahoningtown twins, who will get the nod at the fullback spot. They have been understudy to Lauro all year. The rest of the squad, outside of Clazza and McKee, are in fine physical shape.

The starting lineup will no doubt be as follows: Goelano and Buccell at the ends, Temenski and Castrucci at the tackles, Giboy and Picirillo at the guards, and Morgan at center on the line, and the backfield will have—Lauro at fullback, Kulnis at left-half, Roberts or Burris at right-half and Gender or McKee at quarter.

Erie Techs 1939 Record To Date

The Erie Technical high football team that plays here Saturday with the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" has won four and lost four. The Tech team has met some of the finest teams in the state, notable among the victories is the one over Erie East high, 12 to 0, and also over McKeesport and Meadville.

The record to date:

Tech	0	Ambridge	13
Tech	19	McKeesport	6
Tech	6	Strong Vincent	12
Tech	6	Meadville	2
Tech	2	Bradford	26
Tech	12	Erie East	0

Carl Myland, one of the sweetest ball players the city has produced, and who now is a resident of Chicago, has concluded a visit here. While in the city he was greeted by many boyhood friends. We can yet recall his slashing hits and his fast legs as he travelled after fly balls or scampered around the bases. After Carl left here he played minor league baseball and then hooked up with the American Car & Foundry Co. in Chicago. He played heads-up baseball and after an extremely good day with that team was invited to take a job with the Pullman-Standard Co., of that city. Myland did and in addition to possessing a very responsible job, handles the team which captured the sandlot championship of Chicago last summer. Myland says the Pullman-Standard goes in a big way for athletics. As pilot of the Chicago team he has helped quite a few players stride into the big leagues and one of his closest friends is Jimmy Dykes.

While with Myland we also had the pleasure of meeting Memphis Pal Moore, who now is connected with Nate Lewis in Chicago. According to Pal, he came here to take Clayton Kellier back to Chicago, Clayton having decided to embark upon a pugilistic career. At one time Moore was one of the best bantamweights in the world and should be fully qualified to tutor Kellier. If things go right, Moore wants later to show Kellier in Pittsburgh, Parkersburg and here.

George Pace, who graduated from the amateurs to the professional bantam championship, will fight Jimmy Webster of Johannesburg, South Africa, November 24, in Cleveland. Tom Walsh of Chicago has been named president of the Professional Golf association. Billy Conn and Gus Lesnevich are scheduled to travel 15 rounds in New York. Friday night, Connecticut's commissioner of education has frowned upon the plan of New Britain State Teachers college to play in a "Brain bowl" post-season game. Slippery Rock Teachers would have liked the visiting role.

Suit For Damages In Auto Accident

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Nov. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Richards of Slippery Rock township have filed a suit against Earl Wigton as a result of an auto accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards and their two children were driving the family automobile when at a point near Hartzell's driveway, an automobile driven by Mr. Wigton crashed into the Richards car with such force as to cause the machine to turn over three times, according to the plaintiffs.

Their machine was damaged, according to the Richards, and Mr. Richards received injuries to his neck and back.

Slates Christman As All-American

Lawton Carver I.N.S. Sports Editor, Booming Missouri Junior Halfback For Spot

VAN MUNGO TO TRY COMEBACK

By LAWTON CARVER International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Along the sports front today:

You haven't heard much this football season about San Jose State, Louisiana State Normal, Maryville Teachers of Missouri, Manchester Teachers of Indiana, Slippery Rock Teachers of Pennsylvania, New Britain Teachers of Connecticut, Colorado Mines or DeSales of Ohio.

But they are all unbeaten and untied, going to the other extreme, the Centenary gentlemen of Louisiana have lost eight and tied one in nine starts. And have scored a grand total of 13 points.

That's one team we would rate as the under dog against the University of Chicago.

Mungo Tries Comeback

Cut from $15,000 to $5,000 at the start of last baseball season, then out most of the time with a broken foot, Van Lingi Mungo must have earned the year's hard luck player award. However, the big Brooklyn Dodger pitcher tried hard as long as he lasted and is going to attempt a comeback next year. Some of his supporters insist he still can win plenty of ball games for the Dodgers if his injured foot and a sore arm are completely cured. He already has agreed to terms. That's a record for him.

Add certain All-Americans: Paul Christman, of Missouri, who will make a majority of the All-America backfields despite the fact that he is a junior. Against New York University he was the best football player seen in the east all year. A player with his poise and all-around skill comes along about once in a decade.

Not Many Standouts

As a matter of fact, the east has few outstanding backs this season. A notably drab season for the east. The south seems to have the power this time, although the mid-west and far west could give you an argument on that. Not to mention that the southwest has unbeaten and untied Texas A. and M., rated no worse than second or third in the entire nation. It may be No. 1, despite the fact that Tennessee generally is given that ranking since the downfall of Notre Dame.

Beginning on Monday, December 4, and lasting for a full week thereafter, the majors and minors will take over Cincinnati for the annual mid-winter baseball meetings, with several stars on the block for the trading sessions if any one has the price. During this period we probably will learn more or less definitely whether Outfielder Joe Medwick is to remain a St. Louis Cardinal or wind up elsewhere. The Cincinnati Reds, who were so badly trounced by the Yankees in the world series, may and probably will try to get some additions for a team that, as it stands, can't repeat in the National League pennant race next season.

Titans Will Play At Youngstown Saturday

(Special To The News) YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 16.—Coach "Dick" Beede of Youngstown College will pit his Penguins against the Westminster Titans Saturday November 18, when the two teams will clash at the Raven Stadium, Youngstown. This is the Homecoming game for Youngstown College and officials are looking for a big turnout. The game will start at 2:15 p. m.

This is only the second year of intercollegiate football for Youngstown College. Last year, their first year, the Penguins played strong veteran eleven, lost the first five games, and won the last four. This year to date they have won two games and lost five. In several games where the Penguins lost the scores were close as in the Tennessee Tech-Youngstown game where the score was 7-6 and in the Dayton-Youngstown College game where the score was 13-12.

Coach "Dick" Beede is entering his tenth year of collegiate football coaching. For five years he turned out top-notch teams for Westminster College. Later he was engaged for three seasons at Geneva College and last year he joined the Youngstown staff.

Beede's work with the Penguins has attracted the attention of sports fans far and wide and sports writers are prophesying a great future for the Penguins.

WORLD SERIES IN MARCH PLANNED

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—With some of baseball's most illustrious names of the past on the rosters as club managers and with none other than Tris Speaker behind it all as president, the National Professional Indoor Baseball League today was ready for its formal unveiling Friday night. Speaker, remembered as manager of the Cleveland Indians and for years one of baseball's greatest outfield stars, is exuberantly enthusiastic about the venture, which he confidently predicts will be a major sport during the comparatively dull, dead winter months. The forthcoming season will consist of 102 games for each of eight clubs, the grand finale to be a world series in March.

To the skeptics who insist indoor baseball will not catch on Speaker said:

Two Divisions
"We have no way of telling about that, but we are prepared to go ahead for a season or two—and we think that by that time indoor baseball will be accepted for what it is, a really great game to watch, and one that will give the baseball fans something to do between fall and spring when there is no baseball. This isn't diamond ball, mind you, with 10 men on the teams and that sort of stuff. It's indoor baseball—and we've engaged the best players in the country for the various teams."

The league will be divided into two divisions, eastern and western, with New York, Brooklyn, Boston, and Philadelphia in the eastern, and Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati and St. Louis in the western.

The eastern clubs will play only against each other and the west only against the west, until the world series in March when the champions of the two divisions will tangle up for the championship. Virtually all games will be played in the evening.

Big Leaguers Interested
Heading the various clubs as managers are:

New York, Moose McCormick, former Giant and greatest of pinch-hitters; Brooklyn, Otto Miller, ex-Dodger; Philadelphia, Harry Davis,

THINKS FIGHTING IS BEST OF SPORTS

By BILL CORUM
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Billy Conn is good looking enough to be a movie hero, and he fights as well as a movie hero should. Or even an Irishman, which he is.

Conn is what the trade calls "a picture fighter." His style is orthodox and he stands up like the old-time dandies in the English prints. A stout fella, he is, made for his trade as his trade is made for him. He is undoubtedly the most colorful youngster to bob up in a long time and even the old time hard-to-please critics of another era in the fight racket go out of their way to say nice things, and predict a fine future for him.

Likes Football
Although he is a fervid football fan and unbeaten Duquesne's No. 1 rooster, Conn thinks college football players are touched in the head.

This came out when he was asked if he saw any other good young fighters around his home town of Pittsburgh.

"Nope," replied Bill. "No. a one. All the fellows who might have the makings of fighters around Pittsburgh now are taking their beatings for glory on the football field every Saturday afternoon. I really don't understand those fellows. Fighting is the finest two-man sport in the world. It's the most fun, and a fellow can do himself good at it. But every Saturday I go out and see big, fine-looking, 190-pound kids getting their faces rubbed in the dirt for what they call glory. I don't guess those colleges teach those fellows much, eh?"

Billy never wasted much time on the "higher learning." There always was a gymnasium between his house and the school.

Wants To Meet Louis
Still, his earlier life was not without its advantages. Until last year, his family lived on Shakespeare St., in the poorer section of Pittsburgh. "Tunney had nothing on me, you see," points out Bill.

He also managed to wiggle and wangle his way down close to the ring for every workout and fight he heard about. Once he carried the sand boxes down to the ring for Joe Louis' fight in Pittsburgh with Hans Birkie. Now his goal is to one day roll Louis in resin and win his title.

"But gee-whiz," he says, his eyes shining, "he's a sweet fighter."

COACH LITTLE IS SOBBING PITIFULLY

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Lou Little, the large Columbia coach who carries the dampest crying towel, the most prominent schnozzola and the finest record of upsets of anybody in football, is getting ready to spring one of the major upsets of this or any other season come Saturday. That's the day when Columbia's Little Lions have a date with the mighty horde of behemoths from Tulane. The experts all agree the unbeaten New Orleans outfit should win by three touchdowns or more but we began to doubt such an overwhelming victory when we noticed how hard Lachrymose Lou was using his crying towel today.

Tulane Is Heavy

"It probably will be a slaughter," said Lou, sobbing pitifully. "Red Dawson has two lines that average 215 pounds from end to end and my one little line averages only 165 pounds. Think of it, 30 pounds to a man were spotting them. They may run up a telephone score on us."

Knowing Lou of old, we paid on attention to this little matter of poundage and insisted on knowing if he had anything new to spring on the southerners.

"Well, yes, I have," he admitted grudgingly. "We have one or two new plays that may surprise Tulane just like we once shocked Stanford in the Rose Bowl."

You probably recall that historic occasion on Jan. 1, 1934, when mighty Stanford laughingly took on Little and his little band of Columbians in the Rose Bowl. Everybody agreed that Stanford would make the score whatever it liked and Californians said it was a disgrace to pit such behemoths against a team not much bigger than a coast high school team.

COFFEE FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Coffee is alright if it doesn't keep you from missing the bus... that is the sentiment expressed by two local business men who Tuesday started for Cleveland with a Penn Power party to inspect Electric Light Displays. When the party was waiting for the bus in Sharon a few members thought a little coffee might be a good idea... however when it came time for the bus to start, noses were counted and in some manner two of the party were overlooked... their absence was not apparent until after the party entered the Light Display in Cleveland... those in charge thought that the two men had left the party in Cleveland and were going in their own way... when the day was over a phone call was put in for the men at their homes and much to the surprise of all... it was learned that the men never went further than Sharon... However it is reported another party will be planned for these men and others in the near future... and might we suggest that coffee be served on the bus.

NEW Castle is a great place and to prove this we feel that every one should attend and see the flower show that is in progress now at the Cathedral. It's a show of a lifetime and many folks have traveled many miles to flower shows but this one right here in New Castle beats them all. Go tonight.

It has been some time since last we mentioned the Dog Exchange but now that Christmas is just around the corner we thought that maybe some folks would like to find a home for their dog... and that maybe some little boy would like a dog for Christmas and that parents might want to know where they might obtain such a present at the maximum cost of a postage stamp. If you would like to use the exchange just write this desk either if you want a dog or want to find a home for a dog and this column does the exchanging of names... in the past eleven months some thirty dogs have been exchanged in this manner... write clearly your wants.

While in the hospital one of those friendly souls came tripping lightly into my room and says... "How do you feel?"... Says me to myself... let him have it and so we started in and told of all the pain we had experienced and some that we had thought about when he chimed in and says... "But my dear fellow, I didn't mean literally"... It's time to say Thirty.

THE GUMPS—MISSING: ONE BABY

THE GREAT DAY!!

OH, UNCLE BIM! HOW'RE WE EVER GOING TO FIND THE BABY IN ALL THIS CROWD?

PATIENCE, MAN! WE MUST WAIT TILL ALL THE PASSENGERS GET THROUGH THE CUSTOMS.

B-BUT A LITTLE BABY—WHAT DOES IT KNOW ABOUT CUSTOMS? MAYBE IT'S TOO YOUNG TO EVEN TALK—

NOW—DON'T WORRY—THE SHIP HAS MATRONS ESPECIALLY TO HANDLE SITUATIONS LIKE THIS.

SOMETHING'S WRONG! I JUST KNOW IT—EITHER WE'VE MISSED THE BABY, OR SHE WASN'T ABOARD THE SHIP—EVERY PASSENGER'S GONE THROUGH THE CUSTOMS.

WAIT! THERE'S A WOMAN WITH A BABY—SEE HER? YES! C'MON!

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Mr. Hymie Auger has just turned in his piece. He always comes in sideways, like a crab in spite of all our counsels about getting his story out in front. Meandering that way, he is like his native Gowanus Creek. This one seems to be a short short story.

"Now you take Red Dorgan's beaver; there aren't like it these days. These neon light signs and everything slick and hard and shiny don't make you feel at home the way you used to be. Red's place would be just a rummy old dump now, but it smelled and looked like what a beaver ought to be and it made you hungry just to look at it across the street, although Red used to deal mostly pork and beans and apple pie.

"Red would give you his shirt. He always had enough on the cuff to start a bank, if everybody paid up— which they did once. I'll tell about that later. Once it was Thanksgiving Day and a lonesome boy, with a funny suit of clothes and no overcoat and a celluloid collar, came in to Red's place and there was nobody there but little Louey and Red's old gimpy-legged bean clerk, who was also a nice man. Louey was about as big as a clothes pin, and looked like one, with his rusty old derby hat which came down over his ears. But Louey's a smart little geek and he sees that this boy is a huck and he's homesick and maybe thinking of Thanksgiving Day back home, and he sees the boy is figuring how far he can stretch his last dime.

"So what does little Louey do but step out and make a quick, rough touch and come back and whisper to the bean clerk. The boy looks cold and scared and asks the old man what have you got that won't cost much. The old man says if you'll wait a minute he can deal him a steak and onions and some soup and a big slab of pumpkin pie, etc. Old Pegleg slips out the back door and gets the makings of all this and they feed this boy until he's ready to bust.

"Little Louey had started as a package-snatcher, but he quit that and got a job in a warehouse and married the cashier of Red's beaverery and they had a baby and everything was jake. They bought a piano lamp and Louey was saving up to buy a piano to go with it.

Then Louey had some trouble. He isn't pulling any rough stuff but some jigger-dips he used to string with gets slugged and the cops get him wrong and we all help Louey do a disappearing sketch. We don't see him for two years. When he came back, he gives us an earful like this:

"I blow into Goldfield at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with a one-case note down in the kick. I make a pass in Tex Rickard's Northern. I just couldn't lose—six straight passes and I let it ride every time. Then I pinch most of it lose a point or two, start winning again and by 4:30 I had 500 bucks. I go back to the faro lay-out and cash it in for twenty-dollar gold-pieces. Me wit' 500 bucks!

"I wanted to do everything at once—step into a big feed, lie down under a barrel with a spigot in my face, get me a new front, etc., and I was shaking like I had epilepsy or something. I went out on the street, weighted down like a truck with all these gold pieces and then I see what I ought to do with all this dough. There's a window with tin trains and junk for kids and I ain't feeling so good about giving the runaround to the wife and kid, so I figure this is the one chance I'll ever have to get jake with them again. I'm going to ship all this kale off to Mame and the kid.

"I ask a feller where the post-office is and I ran like they was a mob of cops after me, so I wouldn't change my mind. I dumps all this dough in the window and says I want to ship it all off to New York. The clerk slips me one of them blanks to fill out and my batting average with a pen ain't so good and it's 4:45 when I get through. Then this gink wants a dollar and half just for a money order. I ask him when he closes and says 5 o'clock and I says I'll be back with the dollar and half. I go back to Tex's place on the run and plunk down a twenty and says two bucks goes—and up jumps the devil. By 8 o'clock that night they had stowed me on my head.

"Louey had a tough time getting home. It happened to be Thanksgiving Day when he came into Red's beaverery and told us about it. Red was there. He gives the office to the rest of us and we blow Louey to a big Thanksgiving feed and Red tells him the cops know they made a mistake. Louey got his job back and finally got the piano to do with the lamp and this kid is a footballer now and Louey says he'll be a great piano player.

Personal To Fat Girls

Now you can slim down your face and figure without strict dieting or back-breaking exercises. Just eat sensibly and take 4 Marmola Tablets a day, according to the directions.
Marmola Tablets have been sold to the public for more than thirty years. More than twenty million boxes have been distributed during that period.
Marmola is not intended as a cure-all for all ailments. This advertisement is intended only for fat persons who are normal and healthy otherwise and whose fatness is caused by a reduction in the secretion from the thyroid gland (hypo-thyroidism) with accompanying subnormal metabolic rates. No other representation is made as to its treatment except under these conditions and according to the dosage as recommended. We do not make any diagnosis as that is the function of your physician, who must be consulted for that purpose. The formula is included in every package. Start with Marmola today and win the slender lovely figure that is rightfully yours.
